Let's be PROACTIVE.

All of us at Chi Healing Center are closely monitoring the national concern of the COVID-19 virus and its potential impact to you and your loved ones. We are in a unique position to not only provide you with the utmost safety by following strict guidelines outlined by the CDC, but we can also offer you something that our modern medical system isn't equipped to do; support and stimulate your natural immune response.[1,2,3,4]

Coming in for an Acupuncture treatment now may be your safest and best chance to protect against any viral contagion, and new data from Wuhan China shows the combination of acupuncture and Chinese herbs is making the difference for survivability and recovery of patients with critical COVID-19 infections. [5,6] Just because there are no drugs available to treat COVID-19, we can't forget that a healthy immune system can fight corona viruses and that is why over 80% of those exposed don't contract a disease or have very mild symptoms.[7] A strong immune system and immune response is your best possible defense.

Safety AND Preventative measures.

We had to make some hard decisions to ensure your safety and the safety of our community. This means changing the way we run our clinic temporarily. Following the protocols below, we are presenting as close to zero risk to our patients as possible.

- We have put a temporary hold on our classes and prolonged contact services. This includes yoga and Chi gong and Tai Chi classes, massage therapy, and private room acupuncture. The thought is to limit prolonged one on one contact in a closed room and thereby reduce risk of incidental transmission of ANY virus to near zero.
- We are screening every patient before they enter the clinic, following the CDC guidelines to limit potential exposure to healthy patients. This means patients entering the clinic at this time must be in the CDC's "no identifiable risk" category. This was a particularly hard decision to make, since we can help many patients that are currently sick or becoming sick. Ultimately the focus on prevention and the safety of our weaker or immune compromised patients take precedence.

- Every patient entering our Clinic must wash their hands prior to entering the treatment area. This allows our staff to maintain and keep up with sterilization and creates a clean room environment in the treatment area.
- Rigorous cleaning with approved cleaning agents
- Staggering patients with minimal waiting, to avoid incidental contact with other patients in the waiting area or in transit to the treatment room.
- Treatment room spaced with 6 feet of separation to observe CDC's recommended social distancing.
- We are using Ozone cleaning in our office! Daily ozone sterilization of our clinic ensures that any corona-genus virus, as well as influenza and many others are neutralized on EVERY surface, porous or otherwise.[8] We are likely the ONLY clinic using such aggressive measures in the state.
